J. S. DUKE,

Crab Orchard, Kentucky.

It is going to take severe weather to kill Lancaster's building boom.

The automobile season is considerably outliving the baseball season this year.

A slight skim of ice and a big white frost greeted early risers Sunday morning.

Farmers and stockmen in the country are again complaining of a scarcity of stock water.

Bro. Beagle will fill his regular appointment at the Baptist church, Sunday morning and evening.

Baptist Ladies Aid will have an exchange at W. B. Ball's store every Saturday. Everything good to eat.

Club rates for Magazines. Leave orders at Storms Drug Store.
10-17-2t. Mrs. Dollie Brown.

Butter at 25 cents and eggs 23 cents this early, causes many a vision of Thanksgiving and Xmas cake to fade.

With a prospect of 15 cent coal, we doubt if the advent of the coal man to replace the ice man will be a welcome change.

The rumored change in our mail service created quite a furor until notice came of the rescinding of the objectionable order.

Local dealers report a splendid sale of seed wheat and rye, which indicates the sowing of a good acreage despite the dry weather.

If you have the slightest doubt as to the purity of your drinking water, boil
it. An ounce of preventative is better than a pound of cure.

The Garrard county teachers are loud in their praise of the treatment accorded them by the people of Danville and Boyle county at the "Tri-County Institute" last week.

The sand for the new filter from Red Wing mines shipped on October 1st, has not yet arrived. However, with no water to filter, there is no particular necessity for haste in the matter.

Several nice strings of bass and new-lights were caught from Dix river by local fishermen last week, and old timers who long since despaired of ever making a catch in that stream again
"have the fever."

The "town cows" have commenced their annual deprecations upon the carefully kept lawns, which usually follows the closing of pastures, and the complaints that are coming in to Chief Herron are loud and numerous.

Earl Farrar and Guy Davidson returned last Friday from a fishing trip to the mouth of Rockcastle river. They report the Rockcastle as being in splendid condition but the Cumberland too clear. They had fairly good luck for the short time they stayed and succeeded in landing 17 "good 'uns".

Queen Of The Coffee Urn.

Miss Marion Coyle, the efficient demonstrator of the Phoenix Hotel Cup coffee, will serve this delicious drink at the Malleable Stove demonstration of Haselden Bros. on Oct. 20 to 25th. If you want a good cup of coffee and other delightful eatables,
don't miss this opportunity.

J. H. Payne Buys Property.

J. H. Payne purchased of S. G. Has-elden the house and lot on Buford street now occupied by H. C. Simpson for $1750.

Base Ball Season Closes.

The Philadelphia Americans on last Saturday defeated the New York Nationals in the deciding game for the World's Championship for 1913, and also closed the base ball season for this year.

Leader A Semi-Weekly.

Editor Sanders Orr of the Harrodsburg Herald has purchased a controlling interest in that sheet and has converted it into a semi-weekly. Always a welcome visitor, it is just twice as welcome now.

Colored Institute At Danville.

The joint Teachers Institute for the colored teachers of Boyle and Garrard counties is in session in Danville this week, and the colored schools of the county are idle this week in consequence, to enable the teachers to attend.

Owen Hendren Injured.

Owen Hendren the bright little son of Mr. T. S. Hendren, sustained a broken collar bone while playing "sheep meat" with some companions at school on Wednesday. His injuries were dressed by a physician and he was able to go to his home. The many friends of this bright boy are anxious that his injuries may not prove serious and that he may soon be able to resume his studies.

He'll Get Justice.

Officers came over last week and summoned two venires of Garrard county jurymen to go to Mercer county from which to select a jury in the trial of the famous case of the Commonwealth against Thomas Devine, accused of criminal intimacy with his own daughter. A jury was finally secured and the trial is now in progress.
The case is one of the ugliest character, and no man would voluntarily choose to sit upon such a jury, but some one must serve, and the Garrard county jury may be depended upon to pass impartially upon the question of his guilt or innocence.

Building Continues In Lancaster.

Judge Lewis L. Walker is making extensive improvements to the property recently purchased of F. G. Hurt on water street. Mr. Ross Burtin is adding another story and otherwise improving his residence on Hill street.
Ed C. Gaines has completed a handsome porch which adds much to the appearance of his water street home.
Harry Elmore will at once begin the erection of a cozy cottage on a lot recently purchased adjoining his fathers property on Danville street. In addition to the above mentioned improvements, there are several of our citizens contemplating building provided the weather continues suitable.

Mail Service To Remain Unchanged.

The order changing the mail clerk from
No. 9 and 10 to the day train and depriving us of mail service on the night train was as reported in our issue of last week was correct. The order was received by Postmaster West and was the first he knew of such a change being contemplated. However prompt complaint upon the part of our citizens and business men resulted in the prompt rescinding of the order, and there was no disturbance of our fairly good service in and out of Lancaster. We will continue to receive and forward mail on both the night and day trains, just as we have in the past.

Mr. Holzel Sells His Farm.

Mr. John F. Holzel of this place has sold to Mr. R. G. Pettus of Preachersville his handsome farm in that locality, consisting of 175 acres at $75. per acre. The property sold is one of the prettiest among the many pretty homes in the Preachersville vicinity.

Garman Transferred.

Mr. E. C. Garman who for the past ten years has had "the run" on the K.
C. from Stanford to Mayville, has been transferred to Knoxville and will run between Knoxville and Corlin. Mr.
Garman was an efficient mail clerk and a clever gentleman, and many friends in Lancaster will regret his transfer.

Devine Gets 10 To 20 Years.

The Garrard county jury summoned to Mercer county to try Thomas Devine charged with incest, returned home on Wednesday, having found a verdict of guilty at ten o'clock on Wednesday morning, the verdict carries with it the indeterminate sentence of from 10 to 20 years. Mr. Norman Grow was foreman of the jury. Three other indictments are pending against Devine, one for incest and two for murder. He is also to be tried for lunacy. Several of the jury were of the undoubted opinion that he was crazy.

Leavell Stallings.

The wedding of Miss Lillian Buchanan Leavell and Dr. Thomas Wesley Stallings, was beautifully solemnized Wednesday evening, at the pretty country home, Maple Grove, of the brides father, Elder William Walden of Danville, was the officiating clergyman. Miss Emily Hoffman, of Cincinnati rendered a delightful program of music and Prof. J. W. Ireland, Mrs. J.
G. Carpenter and Miss Hoffman, sang Mendelssohn's bridal chorus. The house was decorated with arches of southern smilax, white palms, ferns and bay leaves, were effectively used throughout the house. In the parlor, ropes of smilax were brought from the four corners to the center, from which an immense wedding bell was suspended, and under this the bridal couple stood.
The two beautiful young bridesmaids,
Misses Margaret Harding, of Danville, and Josephine Carpenter, of Stanford, came first wearing simple girlish gowns, and carrying pink chrysanthemums, they were followed by the groom and his best man, Mr. Eugene Pendergrass, of Fort Smith, Ark.,
The handsome little nephew of the bride, Leavell Robert Smith, was the ring bearer. The bride entered with her sister, Mrs. Michael Robert Smith, of Fort Smith, Ark., who acted as matron of honor, wearing a gown of pink chrysanthemums, draped in shadow lace and wearing pink chrysanthemums. The bride wore a gown of white crepe moteur and lace with pearl trimmings, her veil, worn off the face, was of tulle caught with orange blossoms.
She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses.

The bridal couple left for White Sulphur Springs, Va., and will later be at home to their friends in Cincinnati.
The bride is beautiful, not only in face
but in disposition, and we are sure Dr.
Stallings is worthy of the prize he has won. The popularity of the couple was manifested by the numerous and costly bridal presents, among which was a chest of silver.

A reception followed the ceremony, while frappe was served throughout the evening. The guests from a distance were; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Swope,
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harding, Mrs.
Mary Dobyns, of Danville, Mrs. Mattie Craig Mayes, Springfield, Miss Willie Leavell and Miss Smith, Wil-more, Mrs. Rella Hemphill, Nicholasville, Mr. and Mrs. Will Walden, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Davis, of Danville, and Mr. J. B. Strack of Cincinnati.

J. P. PRATHER.

Gov. McCreary has issued a Proclamation designating Friday and Saturday, October 24 and 25th as "Good Roads" days, and following the proclamation Commissioner of Highways, R. C. Terrill has issued a call to the County Road Engineers over the state urging them to assist in getting the people out on these days.

These calls seem to be meeting with approval all over the state and are creating more or less enthusiasm in different localities. In one county the Representative-elect has expressed his intention of donning overalls and assisting in the improvement of his county. In other counties merchants have expressed their intention of closing their places of business and participating in the work, and in other instances others have announced that they would donate a per cent of their sales on those days to the road fund.

All of this shows a commendable spirit and one worthy of emulation throughout the Commonwealth. In the absence of a sufficient amount of money available from the county fund to properly work the county roads, and the urgent necessity staring us in the face that these roads should be worked, we consider the plan a good one, provided our people will take kindly to it, and about the only chance in sight for the proper working of the dirt roads of the county this year. A turning out of all the available help along the various county roads for two days of intelligent labor on these roads would surely work wonders, and we doubt if anyone who took part in the labor would even be sorry for the time and trouble expended.

We hope that in the course of time some means will be devised for providing for the working of the county roads without the Governor having to issue a proclamation or the people living along the roads being asked to turn out en masse to place them in a passable condition. However, in the meantime the problem is grimly staring us in the face and it is up to the people whether or not they will assist in the work.

What will be done in Garrard county?

It is hard to believe that any one under ordinary conditions could fail to enjoy life in October. The earth, in swinging around the circle of its orbit, has come to a point where winter and summer almost balance. Sunny days, followed by cool clear nights, make us feel vigorous and happy, we smile and say "the weather is about right, we hope it will last." Revived by the bracing air, we forget the heated season that is past and "whether we look or whether we listen, we hear life murmur and see it glisten." Our minds readily respond to nature's graciousness, and now is the time to make resolutions, for it seems more natural in this month of renewed vigor, to say I will, or I want to do this or that, at any rate till next summer's heat wilts our firmness.

The roads are dry and firm and the equestrian, pedestrian or automobilist, can enjoy life to the utmost. The beautiful coloring in foliage, in scarlet, yellow, green and purple, please the eye and add to our enjoyment as we ride through an amber light, which seems to fill the vault of heaven, even to the undimmed blue sky. We caught the chant of the birds "going, going, gone" and the tie is strong that holds us back.

The Mexican situation is growing more deeply entangled. Pres't Huerta has had a number of the members of the Chamber of Deputies, which corresponds to our National Congress, thrown into prison, because they opposed his will and has issued edicts to the Powers proclaiming himself in charge of the various departments of the Government. In fact this high minded gentleman seems to consider himself the "whole thing" in this country of many rebellions. However, he has doubtless involved himself and his already deeply troubled Republic in no end of fresh trouble, and his high handed methods will be frowned upon by the Powers. The United States was quick to voice her displeasure at his actions and in a terse note informed him that it was not our desire that any harm should befall the imprisoned men. Huerta was quick to assure this country that they would meet with no ill treatment, but would be tried for sedition.

President Wilson is about to despair of there being held fair elections in Mexico, and it begins to look very much as if the friendly relations between that country and this would be speedily severed.

The high cost of living has been said for some time to be serious, very serious, but what makes us sit up and take notice, is the startling announcement of Mr. Melvin Taylor, of St. Louis, vice-president of the St. Louis Stock Yards Co., that unless something is done mighty quick, we will be compelled to resort to the use of horse meat as the French. Mr. Taylor gives vent to the following: "because of the decline in beef cattle production, the French and Germans were compelled to fall back on horse meat several years ago. The American people will have to do the same unless immediate steps are taken to populate our Western ranges with cattle. The supply right now is far below the demand, and conditions are getting worse daily".

Tobacco.

Some of our farmers are about ready to begin stripping their crops, and while there has been few offerings and no sales, it is tacitly understood that the Garrard county crop will command a good price this year.

Another Ocean Horror.

On last Thursday the Voltorno bound from Rotterdam to New York and having on board 22 first class passengers, 538 steerage and a crew of 95 was reported by wireless to be on fire in mid-ocean. Every vessel within call rushed to the rescue but upon reaching the scene were prevented from rendering immediate assistance because of the prevalence of a high wind which rendered it impossible to get close enough to the flame wrapped ship to be of any avail. At daybreak on Friday morning the wind subsided and life boats were enabled to take off the survivors. As was the case in the instance of the ill fated Titanic, details were meager for days and days after the catastrophe, but thus far the deaths are placed at 135 and the number rescued at 521. The rescued are on board of a fleet of steamers attracted by the Voltorno's frantic call for help, and these steamers are bound for different parts of the country, and until they all reach port it will be impossible to get a detailed list of those saved and of those who perished.

Our Consolidated Schools.

The following from the editorial columns of the Courier Journal is of such interest to our Garrard county friends it gives us great pleasure to reprint.

"Garrard county's second consolidated school has just been opened at Buena Vista. The honor of starting the first institution of the kind in the county is enjoyed by the town of Paint Lick, which some time ago consolidated two district schools and erected a commodious building.

The people of the Buena Vista community have taken a step in advance of Paint Lick by providing for the transportation of pupils to and from their new school. In the beginning they voted a tax for this purpose, but after they had purchased four wagons they found that the remaining funds would not be sufficient to defray the expenses for more than half the term. Another election was called and the voters by a handsome majority elected to tax themselves an additional twenty-five cents on every $100. worth of property in order that the transportation programme might be carried out in accordance with the original intention.

The citizens of these two communities in Garrard county are handling the educational problem in the right way. The consolidated schools will give them better teaching, larger attendance and increased efficiency all around. It costs a little more to do these things, but the consolidated school is worth the money. When the results to the community are summed up the good school is cheaper than the poor one. The old-fashioned "destrict skule" with its one teacher and its lamentable lack of all things calculated to inspire the student has outlived its usefulness and is no longer equal to the needs of a prosperous and progressive constituency.

Garrard county, there is no doubt, will have other consolidated schools in the future as an outcome of the school improvement at Buena Vista and Paint Lick. Consolidation is not feasible everywhere, but it should be striven for in every county when conditions warrant it."

Dogs Among Sheep.

Dogs invaded the fields of Mr. James G. Burnside at Point Leavell on last Saturday night, first attacking his flock of sheep and killing eight of the number, not being satisfied with this, or else preferring either a change of diet or a diversity of sport, they charged upon a flock of geese and destroyed eight of them. Mr. Burnside hearing the commotion went out with his shot gun and succeeded in killing one dog, all that was to be seen, a handsome collie, the property of Smith Burnside a colored man of the neighborhood.

Recording Of Deeds Gives Rise To Rumors Of The Building Of Dix River Power Dam.

The recording in Mercer county last week of sixteen deeds to as many pieces of property to the Dix River Power Co., gave fresh impetus to the rumor of the early construction of an immense power dam across Dix river near the mouth. A press dispatch from Lancaster to one of the daily papers even going so far as to give a list of the towns which would be furnished with power from the proposed new plant.

From the ineptness of their movement the Record has kept in close touch with the promoters of the proposed dam, and when there is anything tangible or definite to be published in regard to it, we will most assuredly give our readers the benefit of it.

In the meantime, these promoters are keeping exceedingly quiet and are giving out absolutely nothing for publication. We hope and believe that the dam will eventually be constructed, but whether or not it will be, we are unable to say, and in the absence of authentic information on the subject, we will refrain from surmises or the publication of any information of an indefinite character in regard to it.

Why Do "Delegates" Never Come To Lancaster?

Lancaster sends away as many "delegates" in the course of a year, in proportion to her size, as any city in the United States. Scarcely a week passes but we chronicle the going of some Lancastrian as a delegate to some kind of a gathering. She sends them to everything from the colored folks U. B. F. Lodge to the National Convention of the various political parties, to all the meetings of the various societies which the ladies have, to all the meetings of the various lodges, both white and colored, and in fact there is not a gathering of any consequence anywhere in the country unless Lancaster is represented by one or more "delegates".

And yet the delegates are always going from and not coming to Lancaster. Why is this, can some one tell us? Surely some of these gatherings are desirable, both from a social and financial point of view. Are we not prepared to accommodate such gatherings, or would it overtax our ability to accommodate even a district Convention of some infantile society.

We are of the opinion that we do not get these gatherings because we do not make an effort to get them, do not "go out after them". In our opinion we are amply able to take care of a great many gatherings which we could get were we to make an effort.

We have an opera house, court house, and a commodious school auditorium which could be utilized for religious and fraternal purposes, and surely we are better off for hotels and boarding houses than other cities which cater to these gatherings. Then why not get them? Let the slogan of the very next delegate you send away from home be "Come to Lancaster for your next meeting", and we will guarantee that you will eventually land something.

These gatherings of themselves may not be of any material benefit to us immediately, but they will serve to exploit our town and county, will serve to let the world know that we are "on the map" and eventually we will be many times repaid for the hospitality we extend to the strangers who come within our gates.

At any rate let us try it once.

To The Voters Of The Lancaster Magisterial District.

I am a candidate for the office of Magistrate in the First (Lancaster District) of Garrard county. I am sixty four years of age and have resided in this county many years. I am a farmer and stock raiser, and have achieved reasonable success at my chosen calling. I believe that who holds the office of Magistrate should be a sober law abiding citizen. I am a total abstainer from the use of alcoholic beverages, and I have never in my life been accused of or arrested or indicted for any offense against the law. I believe further that the magisterial office, having as it does to deal with the administration of the law and also the interests of the entire county and the citizens of the county, irrespective of their political affiliations, should be free from politics, and that the men who are elected to these offices should go in untrammelled and with no political debts to pay.

The office of magistrate demands the services of a man of sound business sense, dealing as it does with the disbursement of large sums of money for the maintenance of roads and other needs of the county. I promise if elected to be governed by the needs of the people and their best interests as they may appear to me. I shall recognize no favorites or pets and have not made any promises and will show absolutely no favoritism to anyone.

The day and time for the voter following blindly the footsteps of a political party as against their own pecuniary interests has past and gone by, and I appeal to the voters of the district, irrespective of party affiliations to yield me their support, for which I shall be thankful.

Very respectfully,
J. C. Criscillis.

Adv.

Ye Editor Honored.

Gov. McCreary has forwarded to Mr. J. E. Robinson a very elaborate commission appointing him as a delegate to the "Fifth National Conservation Congress" which is to be held in Washington D. C. on November 18-19 and 20th.

Joe Pope Leaves For New Mexico.

Mr. Joseph D. Pope and family left on Wednesday for Deming N. M. where they will reside for the present and probably permanently. Mr. Pope goes for the benefit of his health. It is with sincere regret that Garrard county gives up such a good citizen, and it is sincerely hoped that he may rapidly regain his health.

More Fine Stock Shipped From Garrard

Messrs James I. Hamilton and Robert H. Henry left Wednesday for the southern market with a car load of fine horses. Mr. Hamilton whose destination is Memphis, takes with him seven splendid horses for which he paid $225. per head. Mr. Henry takes with him his splendid stallion "Rex Helton", also one of the best bred young Jacks ever taken from this part of the county and two nice horses. Mr. Henry goes to Eldorado Ark., where he should find a ready market for such desirable stock.

The Worst Has Come. Continued

Drought Forces Partial Closing Down Of Lancaster Water Works Plant.

The supply of water in the local water works lake has held out nobly, but there is a limit to all things and the time has come when Mayor Logan and the City Council deemed it advisable to at least curtail the amount of water taken from the lake daily, and to conserve as much as possible the meager supply remaining. With this end in view they have discontinued supplying water to the Ice Factory, the two mills and the Light Plant. The proprietors of the Light Plant have a pool which contains a limited amount of water, on their premises, and with this they will continue to operate the plant until 10 o'clock P. M. until this supply is exhausted, or until the coming of rain in sufficient quantities to replenish the supply at the lake.

Garrard County School Fair. Exhibition

To Be Held At Court House November 8th.

Preparations are well under way to make the Garrard County School Fair, which is to be held in the Court House in Lancaster on November 8th, a great success, and from the names of those teachers who appear actively engaged in promoting the enterprise, we have no doubt of the result. The Fair last year was a marked success and many improvements will be added to the exhibit. A good band, good speakers and many other attractions have been secured, and it is hoped that everyone interested in the cause of education and the upbuilding of the community will lend their assistance toward the success of this years exhibition and encourage it to become an annual event.

We give below a list of the officers of the "Fair" and also a list of the exhibition for which premiums will be offered, and next week we will publish a list of the premiums which we hope and believe will be both liberal and worth seeking.

Country Store To Change Owners.

Mr. William E. Whittaker has purchased the business of Mr. Roy W. Sanders at Nina and will take possession on December 1st. Mr. Whittaker has disposed of his blacksmith shop and pool room to his brother Mr. Herbert Whittaker. Mr. Sanders has not as yet decided what he will do, but will doubtless engage in business elsewhere in the county.

Will Harris Undergoes Operation.

Mr. William H. Harris, the oldest son of Judge and Mrs. E. W. Harris of this place, who is agent for the L. & N. R. R. at Paris Ky., underwent a slight operation at his home last week, which kept him from his duties for several days. His many friends here will be glad to know that he is doing nicely, and while yet confined to the hospital, is able to sit up and will be out in a few days.

Crop Report Issued October 10, 1913.

The condition of crops as of October 1st has improved somewhat during the month. The condition of corn is given as 70.7 per cent. Much of this corn is now going into shock, and the report of November 1st will show a final estimate of the crop. Since so much of the tobacco has been housed, the efforts this month were to find out the condition of the crop as far as housing was concerned. 71 per cent of the Dark Tobacco is already in the house and is curing fairly well as indicated by a condition of 88 per cent. 72 per cent of the Burley Tobacco is in the house, and the condition is indicated as 82 per cent. The general impression gathered from crop correspondents is that the crop of tobacco will not be either a large one—65 per cent of a crop—or will it be one of extra quality. The crop of wheat has not been put in the ground as early as usual, only 53 per cent having been sown October 1st. Indications are not for a large acreage of wheat for next year. Dry weather has interfered very materially with the sowing. The greater per cent of the rye crop has been sown as is to be expected, but most of this will be plowed under in the spring after having been used for a cover crop. The condition of the garden is still poor and no improved conditions can be expected this year over the condition as shown, which is 48 per cent. Pastures are still in poor shape, the general rains not being sufficient to materially alter the condition. Bluegrass pastures are given as 70 per cent. Orchard grass is given at 77 per cent, clover at 63 per cent and alfalfa at 76 per cent. The percentage of winter apples is small being given at 60 per cent.

The turkey crop is below the average, reports showing only 86 per cent. The percentage of ducks is 88 per cent, percentage of chickens, 90 per cent.

In this report the Department has undertaken to find out the percentage of cattle as compared with the usual year that are going into lots this season. The dry pastures, scarcity of water and scarcity of feed would necessarily cut down the number of stock kept for the winter. Indications are that there are only 72 per cent of cattle on feed. Hogs on feed also show a marked decline from an average year as indicated by 71 per cent.

There is practically a unanimous complaint from all sections of the State as to the scarcity of water, shortness of grass and lack of feed.

Farmers are urged to sow cover crops particularly rye, barley and hairy vetch, for winter pasture in order to save feed bills. Those farmers who have silos have been exceedingly fortunate in being able to save much fodder where the ears of corn failed to materialize. It is hard to find a ray of sunshine in such a bad crop year as this season has proven to be. However, if our farmers take advantage of the lesson that this has taught, it may prove to be a blessing in disguise. If this drought only teaches the farmer the value of a silo and the value of cover crops for winter, Kentucky may yet be richer as a result of the drought.

J. W. Newman,
Frankfort, Ky. Commissioner of Agriculture.

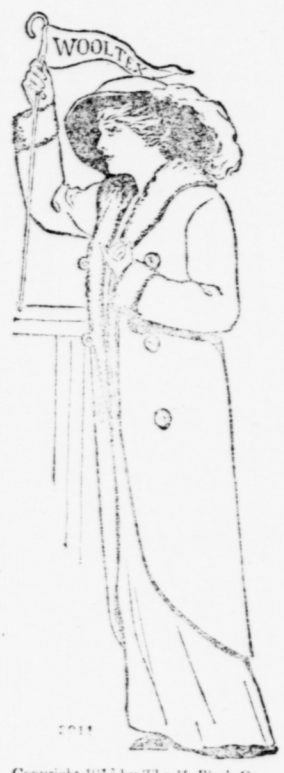

Get a Wooltex Coat

WOOLTEX HOSE AND SEWED-UP SLIT

Women Will Be in Style If They Freeze Despite Dr. Blue's Warning.

(New York Tribune)
What a cruel alternative is put to the slit skirt wearers by Surgeon General Rupert Blue! He is quoted as saying that when the chilly winds of autumn begin to blow the women will either have to sew up the slits in their skirts or wear heavy woolen stockings and sensible boots!

"Nearly all the women who affect slit skirts wear the thinnest kind of silk stockings and extremely low slippers," he is said to have observed. "If they wish to avoid catching their death of cold they ought to wear thick woolen stockings, as their grandmothers did--or sew up the vents."

When the dictum of Dr. Blue was repeated to a well-known fashion authority she shrugged her shoulders and said, "I'm afraid they'll catch their death of cold, then. But it isn't only the skirts that should cause the Surgeon General to worry about women's health. If one wishes to be fashionable this winter she will have to freeze."

"Houses expose the throat, skirts expose the ankles and some of the new crownless hats expose the head. Women can be induced to wear fur about their throat, but I'm afraid anklets would not meet with much success--and woolen stockings--oh, never!"

SEVERAL CASES OF FOWLS

Remedies Given for Many Ills of Poultry--Handy to Keep Around.

For cases of diarrhoea, a diet of boiled rice is excellent.
A little vasoline placed on the tongue is excellent for pip.

An English cure for roup is three drops of camphor on a piece of bread.

Lanced meat will promote digestion and regulate the bowels.

Citrine ointment is recommended for chick-pox.

One part cedar oil and two parts vasoline make an ointment, recommended in cases of sorehead or chick-pox.

A teaspoonful of fenugreek daily in the soft feed, for ten fowls, is excellent for diarrhoea.

Chopped pumpkin seed is said to be a good remedy for tape worms in poultry.

Another preventive of bowel trouble is a teaspoonful of Venetian red in a gallon of drinking water.

Bowel trouble in chicks is often checked by mixing a little granulated charcoal in the soft feed.

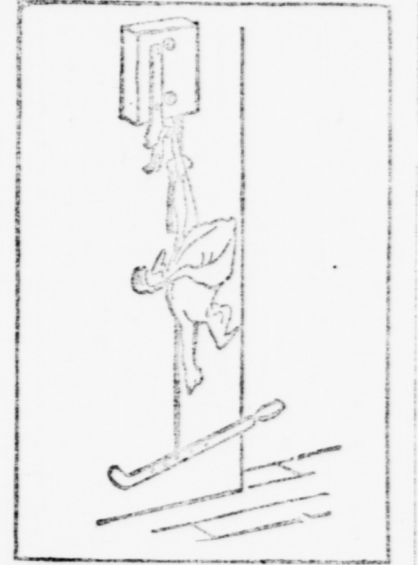

Nothing is better for a badly torn comb or wattle than to wash the sores with whiskey; after which coat with vasoline.

For constipation, ten drops of sulphate of magnesia to each pint of drinking water is recommended.

TO EXTRACT FOWL'S SNEWS

Operation Is Not Easy at Best and Is Extremely Difficult for Any Inexperienced Person.

For some ways of preparing a fowl it is advisable to remove the sinews of the bird, but this is an operation that is not easy at best and that is extremely difficult for an inexperienced person unless he or she might have one of the devices invented by a New Hampshire man. To a box attached to the wall are two claw arms, one of them stationary and the other yielding affixed by a strong spring. A horizontal arm that is hinged to the wall near the floor is attached by a chain to the spring claw arm. The chicken's leg is thrust up through the spring arm and the claw made fast to the stationary arm. Pressure of the foot on the horizontal arm below pulls the fowl down, but the sinews that lead from the claw into the leg are stripped cleanly from the flesh.

POULTRY NOTES

Healthy chickens need no medicine or stimulants.

Reading, breeding, feeding and care will bring success to most any poultryman.

The henhouse should be very carefully cleaned during the hot weather of early fall.

Give the fowls plenty of pure, fresh water, and wash their drinking dishes every day.

For head lice, sweet oil rubbed in is not so harsh as kerosene but just as effective.

Nothing makes a cooler, cleaner-looking poultry house than the use of plenty of whitewash.

The surplus sour milk can be utilized in no more profitable way than by giving it to the hens.

Carefulness in dressing poultry pays for the extra pains taken. The pinfeathers must all be removed.

In applying insect powder, hold the foot by the feet, head down, and work the powder well into the feathers.

Over-exercise toughens the flesh of even a young fowl. A good breast is half the race for a valuable table fowl.

Keep plenty of water before the ducks. Sudden death among the ducks can often be attributed to a lack of water.

Frequent dumping and burning of nesting materials will thin out vermin wonderfully. Smoke out the nest boxes over the fire thus made.

Whitewash is cheap and easily prepared. By the use of a coal oil emulsion from time to time the wiping out of the vermin colonies may be assured.

Office Hints.

Never send articles for publication without giving thy name, for thy name often secures publication of a worthless article.

Thou shouldst not rap at the door of a printing office, for he that heareth thee rap sneereth in his sleeves and looseth time.

Thou shouldst never read the copy on the printer's case or sharp and hooked container thereof, or he may knock you down.

Never inquire of the editor the news, for behold it is his business to give it to thee at the appointed time without asking for it.

It is not right that thou should ask him who is the author of an article, for it is his duty to keep such things to himself.

When thou dost enter his office, take heed of thyself that thou dost not look at what may concern thee not, for that is not meet in the sight of good breeding.

Neither examine thou the proofsheet for it is not ready to meet thine eye, that thou mayest understand.

Prefer thine own town paper to any other, and if thou hast not already done so, subscribe for it immediately. Pay for it in advance, and it will be well with thee and thine.

Serious Error in Lancaster.

Lancaster Citizens Will Do Well To Profit By The Following.

Many fatal cases of kidney disease have reached an incurable stage because the patient did not understand the symptoms. Even today in Lancaster there are many residents making the same serious error. They attribute their mysterious aches and pains to overwork, or worry, perhaps, when all the time their rheumatic pains, back-ache bladder irregularities are most probably due to weak and ailing kidneys. If you are ill, if your kidneys are out of order, profit by this Lancaster resident's experience.

George Wright, Hotel Kengarian, Lancaster, Ky., says: "I willingly confirm all that I said some years ago praising Doan's Kidney Pills. They do all that is claimed for them. I suffered a great deal from my kidneys and back. Pains through my loins extended to my sides and over my kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and my kidneys became normal and the pains stopped."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Proposition For Fair Election Turned Down.

Lancaster, Ky., Sept 6, 1913

Pursuant to an appeal by the Progressive candidates for County offices in Garrard County, Ky., published in The Central Record for the last two weeks, we the following candidates of the three political parties, whose names appear below, to be voted for at the coming November election; realizing how much it means to our people to have an election at which there are no corrupting influences used, and also realizing the growth of public sentiment along this line, and ever mindful of the fact that in a government of the people, the unpurchased majority must rule, we the undersigned do most solemnly pledge to the people of Garrard County and among ourselves that we are unalterably opposed to the use of any corrupting influences whatever and do bind ourselves to use neither money nor whisky nor will we allow it to be used by another in any way to secure our election.

We also further affirm that we have not in any way used any corrupting influences whereby we have bound any person or persons to vote for us or any other candidate at the coming November election.

Referring to the above agreement which was drawn and signed by the Progressive candidates on Saturday the 6th inst. to which they are pledged, we express our great disappointment on account of the fact that this appeal has been utterly ignored by all of the candidates of the other parties.

By their failure to come forward and agree to stand for clean elections, where no corrupting influences shall be used, they proclaim to the people of Garrard County, that they are in favor of present conditions now existing within our borders, which all good people regardless of past party affiliations must deeply deplore.

We are standing, in this elections, not alone for the offices, to which we aspire, for if that had been our only motive, we should never have been before you at this time, but we are standing for principles, which even our opponents must acknowledge are just and right.

We again express our deepest regret at the stand taken by those gentlemen, who are asking the good people of this county to elect them to fill the various offices for the next four years. We had a right to have expected better things from our opponents, when the very foundations of this Government today are being undermined by just such conditions as exist in this County.

We, therefore appeal to the people of Garrard County, to show on which side they stand; whether they are in favor of conditions as they now exist, or whether they are in favor of conditions for which the Progressive party is contending.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good, I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 30 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only close the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged. This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known blood-cleansing remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

We have sold other remedies for skin troubles but none that we can recommend as highly as this for we know that D.D.D. stops the eczema at once. We want you to give D.D.D. a trial. That will be enough to prove it.

Or, enclose all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—and don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we will so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle of this guarantee—if you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

ALLEN'S PRINCESS
Do you want meals cooked better, quicker at less cost, in a more comfortable kitchen?
ALLEN'S PRINCESS solves the question of fuel economy, kitchen comfort, time saving, cleanliness and cooking superiority. Everything in every Princess that other ranges have and a lot of patented features others cannot have. Unexcelled in grace of design, materials workmanship, durability.
In no other range can you find triple bottom, double walls, patent water pocket hot air blast, dish warming closets and pipe behind the warmer.
Manufactured only by Allen Manufacturing Co., Nashville, Tenn.
J. R. MOUNT, SON & CO

No End of Good Reasons
UNLESS you buy carefully, these are a few of the features that will lead you to the IHC line when you buy a hay press. IHC presses are provided with self-feeders, eliminating dangerous foot-feeding and increasing capacity by even operation; the bale chamber is of just the right height to permit convenient tying of the bales; the bale tension and roller tucker make for uniform, compact and attractive bales; the toggle joint plunger is the most powerful and simple compressing device ever used on a hay press—though producing great pressure, it requires least power to operate.
IHC Hay Presses
cannot be surpassed in convenience, durability, simplicity, and economy of operation. They will put your loose hay into neat, compact bundles, occupying but one-fifth the former space, increasing your available barn room, and making it possible to sell your hay in distant localities at the highest market prices.
You will find three sizes, 14 x 18, 16 x 18, and 17 x 22-inch bale chamber, in the IHC hay press line, baling, at a most conservative estimate, from six to sixteen tons per day. If your choice is a horse power press, you will be interested by its special features, the pull power principle, compound leverage, and the low step-over. If you desire a motor press, study the durable power jack. Remember, too, that this is an all year round machine, for the engine may be detached and used as a regular portable power plant to run saw, pump, cream separator, churn, feed grinder, electric.

Two of A Kind
The Widow Won Out
By CLARISSA MACKIE

Maria Fish was baking molasses cookies while I sat in the hot kitchen reading aloud from the column of "Social Jottings" in the Quince Harbor Weekly Echo.
"Our genial neighbor, Captain Barnabas Fish, spent Thursday in the great metropolis," I read at last.
"Trash!" snorted Maria, popping a pan of cookies into the oven and flying back to the table to grease another pan.
"It's true," I remarked mildly, for I found the Echo fascinating in the extreme, for it carelessly tossed a halo of adventure or romance about the most trivial facts of daily life in the little Long Island village.
"That's as it may be," retorted Maria grimly, "but 'tain't no news to nobody that the cap'n went to the city. Every Tom, Dick and Harry in town saw him go off on the stage, and those that didn't was up to the station loafing around when the train went."
"True," I murmured, "but it does sound so impressive when one reads that Captain Barnabas went to the 'great metropolis.' It's much more suggestive than plain New York or the city."
"You air romantic, Miss Telham," Maria wagged her head severely at me. "You can see romance in almost nothing. Maybe you can find a speck of rose color in the fact that Barnabas met that old scamp, Ananias Sline, in New York and has invited him down to Quince Harbor for a spell."
"Ananias Sline—here?" I cried joyfully. "Oh, Maria, 'tain't that too splendid! Just think of hearing his yarns at first hand instead of having the captain relating them!"
"More lies, Miss Telham. I don't encourage Barnabas in repeating those old yarns of his shipmate." I asked, with interest.
"Has a sister somewhere who dresses makes for a living and I reckon provides a home for him when he's ashore. He was married once and had a wife, but I hear she ran away and left him because he was so mortal mean and stingy. I don't blame the woman. Most any human being would get tired of living with a goggle-eyed codfish!"
"A goggle-eyed codfish?" Oh, Maria, is he as homely as that?" I gasped.
"Judge for yourself. Here he comes!" said Maria slyly as she threw off her gingham apron and marched into the front hall. "Come along, Miss Telham. You'd have to talk to him while I'm getting dinner."
Maria's bark was always worse than her bite. So it proved in this particular instance when she greeted the dapper little man whom her husband introduced.
"Maria, let me introduce my old shipmate, Ananias Sline. Ananias, shake hands with my wife, Hettie. The captain smiled delightedly as Maria gave pleasant greeting to the little man, who did bear a striking resemblance to the goggle-eyed codfish that Maria had so graphically described.
"Pleased to meet you," greeted Ananias, bobbing his long head first at Maria and then at me. At last, with a great effort, as if the mere formalities of conversation caused him agony, he uttered, "Nice day."
"Pretty fair, considering that the wind's in the east," retorted Maria. "I guess I'll leave you to talk to Miss Telham, Mr. Sline, while I tend to dinner. Captain, can you clean them fish now?"
"Course," assented the captain cheerily as he picked up Mr. Sline's shiny black bag and left it at the foot of the stairs. "Make yourself comfortable, Ananias. Smoke if you want to; Miss Telham don't mind."
"Really, I don't object," I said. "I've given up smoking," he said solemnly.
"Indeed? Since when?"
"About an hour ago. I've taken a position in the bank," said Ananias, turning a fishy eye toward me, "a position of trust."
"How very nice. You mean in the Quince Harbor bank?"
"Yes'm."
I pondered carefully what position of trust might be filled in the village bank.
At that moment Captain Barnabas drifted on to the porch and sat down in his old hickory chair.
"Ananias been telling you about his good job?" he asked.
"Yes, isn't it splendid?"
"Fine. Rollins has been talking about taking on a janitor there—said he could act as night watchman, too—and I thought to myself that Ananias was the man for the job, and he got it too."
Ananias shot a sly glance at me. "Thanks to the captain," he murmured.
"Oh, I happen to be one of the stockholders," explained the captain.
"Then Mr. Sline will live in Quince Harbor," I remarked.
"He's going to board with the Widow Rowell. She'll make him mighty comfortable," chuckled the captain.
"Dinner's ready," interrupted Maria, appearing in the doorway to lead us to the dining room.
It was directly after dinner that Ananias Sline disappeared. For three hours we sat high and low for some trace of that elusive little seaman, but he had disappeared, shiny bag and all, and Maria was almost as upset as the returned sailor.

"What in time is the man?" muttered the captain at the hundredth time as he trudged back from the beach, having searched every square inch of the little harbor.
"Ain't got a grouch and get back to the city? You don't think that, Maria?"
"Don't ask me," admonished Maria darkly. "After slaving myself over them flatfish and an extra high short-cake—and I may say that I never saw a little man that could tack away such a sight of food, Barnabas, after slaving myself all the morning, not to mention molasses cookies, because you said he was partial to 'em, to have him eat and run in this way is just downright scandalous!"
"I don't blame you, Maria," said the captain meekly.
Maria looked herself to and fro, fanning herself with a corner of her gingham apron.
"I'm going down to the postoffice to inquire if anybody's seen him. If Maria Hitt once clapped an eye on him she would never forget him. Always reminds me of a camera, that woman does," growled the captain, dragging himself into his blue coat and snatching his cap over his white hair.
When his stalwart form had disappeared over the bridge by the door I turned back in my chair and looked up into the leafy greenness of the big paper mulberry tree.
I remained in this attitude, gazing upward, open mouthed and staring.
"Miss Telham! Land sakes! What's the matter?" gasped Maria suddenly.
"Look!" I murmured, pointing upward where the pale face of Ananias Sline peered down at us from the high branches of the mulberry tree.
"Land!" shrieked Maria. And she, too, gazed at the strange sight.
Nothing was visible save Ananias' mean little face, and that was pale and drawn with fright. There was something else about the face up there. It reminded me of the Cheshire cat in "Alice in Wonderland," and I wondered if Ananias' face would fade away as did the cat's, leaving only a smile behind.
It looked possible, for Mr. Sline's mustache was twitching in an attempt at a smile, but every now and then his prominent blue eyes rolled downward to the lower branches of the tree as if there was something to be feared beneath him.
Presently I followed his glance and saw, and Maria saw at the same time, and we were speechless before the queerest of it all. In a lower crotch of the tree, her back supported by the smooth trunk, her feet incased in balbrigan stockings and congress garters, was the Widow Rowell, Ananias' prospective landlady. Her hawklike nose and her sharp chin almost met in wide-eyed fierceness as she knitted busily away at a long, red woolen stocking.
Maria was the first to recover herself.
"Hettie Rowell, whatever do you mean by such actions?" she shrieked, going to the edge of the piazza, where her head was on a level with that of Mrs. Rowell.
Mrs. Rowell smiled sweetly down upon Mrs. Fish, and her almost vertical eyebrows went up to meet her gray hair.
"Dear Maria," she lisped pleasantly. "I'm just waiting for my boarder, Ananias. He thought he'd like to get a view of the harbor from the top of the tree!"
"Pshaw, Ananias! What does this mean?" shouted Maria up into the treetop. "What air you doing with your carpeting up there and the widow sitting here in the tree like a—carbide!"
"Like a cooling dove, Maria Fish," interrupted the widow with a dangerous smile.
"Like a cooling dove knitting a red wool stocking," amended Maria grimly. "I ask what is she doing here, Ananias?"
"Waiting for me, Mrs. Fish," said Ananias quite meekly. "She came after me, she did, saying she'd been waiting dinner for me two hours, and when I told her I'd been invited to spend the night here and I couldn't come to her house till tomorrow, why, she up and flew at me as well as I, I'm a seafaring man, as you may see, Ananias, and 'tain't no hard job for me to get up into the rigging when things are hot below." Now Ananias actually smiled.
"Well, Hettie, what you got to say? Air you crazy?" demanded Maria angrily.
"The captain engaged board for Mr. Sline from me, Maria, and 'tain't no manner of use for you to try to keep him away from my house, a tempting him with all sorts of cookery," she said in her dulcet tones. "He's my boarder, and he's going home with me if I have to stand here all night and wait for him."
Maria was pale with anger. "Take your boarder and go," she said coldly. "And I wish you joy of each other." And she went into the house.
Half an hour later I saw Ananias Sline come down the mulberry tree with his shiny black bag. He cast a reproachful glance at me as he passed, but he followed closely in the wake of Mrs. Hettie Rowell.
When we related the incident to tired Captain Barnabas he shook his head dismally.
"I foresee the end already," he murmured. "Ananias has met his match in the Widow Rowell. She's buried two husbands and calculates to plant a third here she dies. 'Hain't no wonder Ananias will be the third."
"Until that happy release I'm sure I wish them joy of each other," sniffed Maria meaningly. "They're two of a kind."

Co-Operation In Agriculture.

Washington, October 1.—Pres'd nt Finley, of the Southern Railway Company, referring to-day to the interest being manifested in co-operation in agricultural communities in the Southeast, said:

"One of the most important advantages of co-operative marketing is that it is practicable for an association combining the resources of a considerable number of producers to obtain much more detailed and reliable information as to conditions at different market points than can generally be obtained by any single individual. This tends to prevent the overstocking of one or more markets while others may be left with inadequate supplies which is one of the greatest difficulties encountered in independent marketing."

"For the accomplishment of the best results in the distribution of products among markets it is important that a large number of producers shall unite in a single association or that there shall be effective co-operation between a number of local associations."

"Another matter, the importance of which can not be overestimated, is that a co-operative marketing organization which exercises effective control over the grading and packing of products can build up a valuable reputation for the producers of its locality. When buyers learn that the grading and packing of any particular association may be relied upon absolutely, its goods are sought out and its name or trade-mark becomes an asset of value to each member of the association. Another advantage is that, handling a larger volume of business, the association may find it profitable to devote more attention, not only to securing general market information, but also to looking into the comparative advantages of dealing with different buyers in the same market than can be done by individual producers. Its larger volume of business also tends to increase competition among buyers for its products and enables it, in many instances, to ship in carload quantities."

"The activities of a co-operative selling agency may also, in some instances, be extended to matters connected with production. It may, for example, undertake the buying of the seeds used by its members, looking into their purity and germinative qualities and insuring the production of the same varieties by all members of the organization."

"The managements of the Southern Railway Company and its Associated Companies, in maintaining a corps of Market Agents for the purpose of bringing producers in the territory traversed by their lines into relations with buyers, have recognized the value of co-operation. The work done by these Agents is, in itself, entirely co-operative. They are familiar with the plans of organization and methods of operation of successful co-operative selling organizations and are ready at all times to give information to producers who may wish to organize co-operative associations for the marketing of agricultural and horticultural products."

"One of the fields in which co-operation among producers has been most effective is in the handling of dairy products, eggs, and poultry through co-operative creameries."

"The importance of efficient management in co-operative enterprises of all kinds can not be too strongly insisted upon. The success of such an organization can not be assured by a number of farmers getting together and simply agreeing to co-operate along certain lines. The management must be placed in the hands of a reliable man, either a member of the association or an employer, who has business capacity and who will insist upon conducting its operations strictly in accordance with business principles and keeping its accounts with as much accuracy and care as those of a manufacturing or commercial corporation. By giving proper attention to these important matters and by studying carefully the methods by which success has been achieved by others I believe that the farmers of many localities in the Southeast will find it advantageous to organize co-operative associations."

HORSE WISDOM.

The pedigreed sire has been the power in building up size and draft form in our American stock of horses.

Early and thorough training makes gentle, safe and tractable horses.

If the fetlocks are kept clipped and the horse's legs are kept clean scratches will never bother.

There are too few good colts raised on the farms. This should not be. Don't leave this important industry to the horse breeders alone.

In breaking a colt remember that it is an easy matter to overload and ruin him by causing him to balk.

Sprained tendons and joints are often the effect of long grown hoofs continually tamping on solid floors.

PROFIT IN BIG MULES.

Growing Demand For Animals Produced From Draft Mares.

Raising mules for a definite purpose offers an excellent opportunity to the man who will give the business the attention it deserves, says the National Stockman. Not so many years ago the raising of mules was a slipshod industry, most of them coming from inferior mares that failed to produce good horse colts or that were bred on the not much to lose plan by independent owners. Of late years, however, better mares have been sent to jacks, and as a result we have better mules today than ever before. Mules increased faster in value during the decade 1900-1910 than did horses.

To produce good mules it is necessary to get away from the old idea that the mule and the smaller mule are the same. Mules that are toppling the market today come from strictly high class mares of good size. The big draft mare produces an excellent heavy mule, and the 1,200 pound standard bred mare produces a mule well liked by many because of his high quality. The mule's reputation is based to a considerable extent on his stamina and long wearing qualities. Therefore high finish, which is generally considered as an indication of quality, is of great importance in a mule. He gets his indications of high quality largely from his dam and from his feed. It takes a big jack to get big mules from any mare. He should be the best obtainable.

There is no reason why the next few years should not see as great an increase in the mule industry as has the past decade. Of course we can never have as many mules as horses nor even half as many because of the way in which mules are produced. But we can and should have many more. For an unskilled and careless teamster they beat a horse every way. They are not naturally mean or stubborn or vicious. The bad ones are made so by careless or no training. They don't get hurt. Every mule is a worker and fit for work all the time. Thus they are popular and growing in popularity all the time.

THE MILKING GOAT.

Toggenburg Breed Noted For Milk Producing Qualities.

The goat as a milk producer has long had a recognized place in Europe. There are some breeds of goats that are very heavy producers of milk. Goat milk is white in color and contains 4 1/2 per cent butter fat on an average and somewhat more casein or albumen than cow's milk. The fat is so minutely divided that it does not rise readily to cream. It is claimed that when milk from these milk goats is properly drawn and cured for there is no offensive odor connected with it.

Pure bred milk goats are very scarce in this country. The department of agriculture several years ago took up the matter of introducing goats of these special milk breeds and a bulletin entitled "Information Concerning the Milk Goat" was published by the department of agriculture in 1905.

Those interested in the importation of milk goats from Europe have found it extremely difficult to secure stock. The Toggenburg breed of milk goats which is raised in the Toggenburg valley of Switzerland has been bred there for centuries. This is a very hardy breed and probably has been introduced into the United States more extensively than any other milk breed. Some individuals of this breed have produced five, six and even seven quarts of milk daily. The period of lactation in the milk goat is about five or six months. They usually produce two kids at the birth. The period of gestation is five months, as with sheep.

Infectious Abortion.

Cows lose their calves (abort) from a variety of causes. However, infectious abortion is very prevalent in the dairy herds of this country. For this reason take no chances. Isolate immediately every cow as soon as she shows signs of impending abortion. When she aborts burn the calf and its membranes. Clean up and disinfect all discharges. Wash her hind parts with a 3 per cent solution of creolin. Keep her out of the herd until all signs of discharges have disappeared. — San Francisco Veterinary College.

Feed the Cow.

A cow cannot give a full flow of milk unless she is provided with feed from which to make the milk. It is wrong to expect something for nothing.

CHANGE.

Today is not yesterday. We ourselves change. How can our works and thoughts, if they are to be always the fittest, continue always the same? Change indeed is painful, yet ever needful, and, if memory has its force and worth, so also has hope.

UNJUST TAX LAW IN KENTUCKY

How Unsatisfactory the Present Tax System Works in This State

Most Unequal System Ever Devised and Most of the Progressive States Have Abolished the Plan Used in Kentucky.

The present state constitution of Kentucky provides that "Taxes shall be uniform on all kinds of property," and on the surface this seems to be so fair the average thinker can find no fault with it.

In practice, however, it has been found to be the most unequal tax system ever devised, and most of the progressive states have abolished the plan.

Its inequalities and unfairness may be seen from the way it discriminates in certain classes of property and explains why Kentucky seems to have so little intangible wealth as compared with other states.

For instance, cash in savings banks draws only three per cent interest, gilt-edge bonds pay four per cent, real estate notes six per cent, stock in some foreign corporations ten per cent, while the tax on all the same for state purposes, but varies for county and city purposes according to the location.

Thus where the income is only 3 per cent and the taxes 2 1/2 per cent it leaves the owner only 1/2 per cent interest, and where the income is 10 per cent and the taxes 2 1/2 per cent the interest is 7 1/2 per cent. In this uniform?

In some counties land is assessed at 30 per cent of its value, in others 50 per cent, and in others 70 per cent. The state tax is the same in all the counties. Is this uniform?

If an honest farmer lists his property at its fair value and his unscrupulous neighbor puts a lower value on his property the former pays more than his share, while the latter pays less.

If the state board of equalization raises the entire list for that county, the honest man pays on property he doesn't own, and yet our law is supposed to be uniform.

That the personally owned by citizens of Kentucky is vastly more than is listed for taxation is a well-established fact; but the tax receipts don't show it. In fact, certain classes of property, such as stocks, bonds, notes and cash have almost disappeared from the tax rolls, and these evidences of wealth apparently grow less each year.

If the present system is allowed to remain in force, it will result, as it has in other states, in almost all kinds of personally owned property disappearing from the assessors' books, and lands and houses which can not be hid or moved will have to bear the chief burden.

It has been so in every state where the "general property tax" has been the plan on which property was taxed, and most of the states have been wise enough to get rid of such an unequal and unfair system.

The Ohio state tax commission, in its 1908 report on the operation of the "general property tax," says:

"It is a failure for purposes of revenue or equality. Perhaps not 5 per cent of intangible property is listed. It punishes the honest. It rewards the dishonest. It frequently results in double taxation and lowers the standard of integrity."

The entire revenue of the state of Kentucky is about $7,000,000, while Michigan, with about the same area and population, receives $14,000,000 from taxes, only a small proportion of which is paid on land.

In Pennsylvania there is no state tax on farms or homes.

There are 7,000,000 acres of unimproved farm lands in Kentucky and yet vast quantities of farm products have to be imported.

There are about twenty-five thousand square miles of coal lands in Kentucky, and yet we buy millions of tons of coal from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana and Tennessee.

Kentucky raises thirty-eight per cent of the tobacco crop of the United States and manufactures only three per cent of it.

These are significant facts and our people should consider them.

There may be other causes for our lack of progress but it is an established fact that no state has ever prospered under the general property tax and it is also known that this deplorable system of taxation has always driven out capital, retarded development and caused untold losses in population.

The last general assembly passed an act amending the state constitution so as to permit future legislation on taxation which will go far towards remedying the evils and it is the duty of every citizen in the state to vote for the amendment at the November election. If it is not ratified at that time it will be impossible to vote on the question for another five years and it has been delayed too long already. It is time for us to wake up and get in line with other prosperous states. Vote for the constitutional amendment at the November election.

FARMER'S HEN HOUSE

One Illustrated Used for Years With Much Success.

Building Will Accommodate About 140 Hens and is Really Built in 12-Foot Sections — Covered With Roofing Paper.

The accompanying illustrations show a practical farmer's hen house which has been in use with good success for two or three years, writes R. R. Slocum of New York in the National Stockman and Farmer. The house is 12 feet by 48 feet and will accommodate about 140 hens. It is really built in 12-foot sections, or at least the arrangement is repeated in each 12 feet, that is to say each 12 feet has a window and an opening in the front.

The entire framework is of 2x4 stuff except the front and back sills, which are composed of two 2x6 pieces laid one on top of the other. Each end floor joist is two 2x4 pieces laid one on top of the other. The joists are 20 inches apart from center. The rafters are 30 inches apart. The whole building should be set about 18 inches from the ground on 16 cement or wooden supports. The walls and floor are made of 4-inch and 5-inch hard pine matched stuff. The roof is 12-inch boards planed on the outside surfaces but unmatched. They are covered with a prepared roofing paper which is carried down the back of the house.

The window is made of two ordinary window sash nailed together by means of strips along the sides. The storm sash thus made in hinged at the side and opens like a door. It is a great convenience when cleaning the house. The openings in the front of the house are covered on the outside with fine mesh wire netting. On the inside each is fitted with a muslin-covered frame hinged so that it can be made to close the opening at will. The opening is not closed except on cold nights and especially stormy days.

A dropping board three feet wide runs along the back of the house, two feet six inches from the floor for its entire length. Three feet of the dropping board in each 12 feet is taken up by a coop for confining broody hens. In the front and back walls of each 12 feet are openings a foot square and 6 inches from the floor to let the hens go in and out. The nests are placed against the back wall over the dropping boards. They could be placed under the dropping boards by raising the latter. Ordinary galvanized pails are used for the drinking water and home-made hoppers for the ground feed.

As stated before, this house has been very successful despite the fact that Leghorns are kept in it and the winters since it was built have been severe. Muslin curtains are arranged so that they can be dropped down in front of the roosts on very cold nights. This house was built for less than $150 including the cost of some hired labor.

Small Stock Fattening.

That chickens intended for market should be divided into small flocks and should be fed heavily on fattening feeds while giving them range in a small grass enclosure is the belief of Prof. James G. Halpin of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin. It has been found that as a rule the average farmer pays little or no attention to the fattening of his market fowls, taking them to market directly from the range.

A mixture of four parts of ground corn and one part of wheat bran mixed with enough sour skim milk to make it crumbly moist is the ration according to Professor Halpin, who recommends that they be fed only such quantities of feed as they will clean up in twenty minutes.

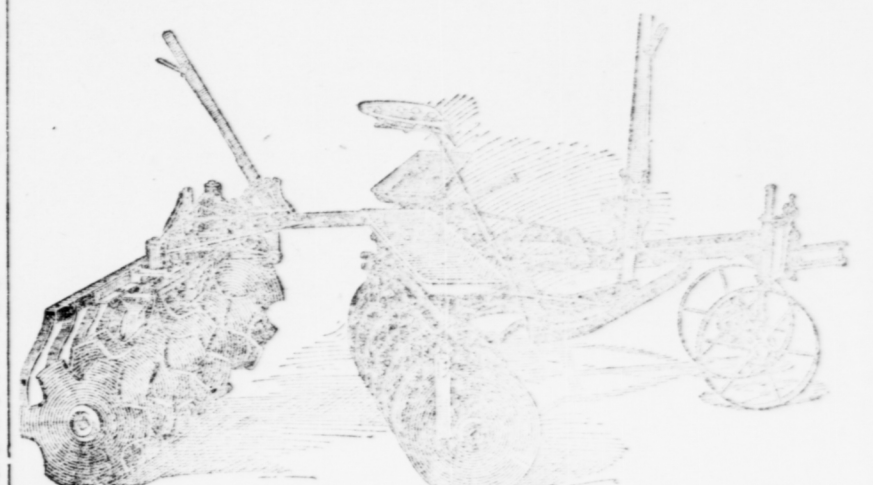

Rye a Poor Ration.

Rye is the poorest of poultry grains. Corn and buckwheat should be fed sparingly, as they are very fattening. Wheat leads as a well balanced food, and barley is a close second. Feeding too much buckwheat has a tendency to produce a white skin and light colored yolks in eggs.

Corrects Bowel Trouble.

A few drops of spirits of camphor in the drinking water will often correct slight bowel trouble in old and young birds.

Keystone Double Disk Harrow

The double disk harrow is designed for those farmers who wish to do two diskings in one. This makes it a particularly desirable implement for summer fallow purposes, to keep the proper mulch for moisture conservation.

The Keystone double disk harrow is made up with the regular Keystone disk harrow in front, and a cutaway attachment for the rear. The rear attachment is very solidly made, and is operated with one lever, convenient to the seat of the driver. If the farmer desires to use the front harrow only, the rear attachment can be easily removed in a few seconds.

If desired, the harrow will be furnished with cutaway disks in front, thus making a double cutaway disk harrow. The harrow is furnished regularly with the forecarriage, and in 5, 6 and 7-foot cut.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases, but it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema occurs and is healed. This—the quality of penetration—probably explains the tremendous success of what is known as D.D.D. cream, ointment, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription. We have sold other remedies for skin troubles but none that we can recommend as highly as this for we know that D.D.D. cures the skin as it cures you. You want to give D.D.D. a trial. That will be enough to prove it. Of course all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some low cost substitute. But if you come to our store, we are anxious to show you what D.D.D. will do for you. We offer you a full size bottle of this guarantee—if you do not find that it takes away the itch, AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

The Chautauqua Circle met on last Saturday with Mrs. Fred P. Frisbie and this week's assemblage will also be held at the residence of Mrs. Frisbie.

Mrs. R. Parker Gregory and little daughter, Nellie Goff, were called to Madison county Thursday by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Sallie Rayburn.

Mrs. J. S. Gilbert returned Tuesday from Louisville, having accompanied her mother, Mrs. Jennie Broadbent to the Norton Infirmary where the latter is a patient.

Mr. Bassett and wife, the latter formerly Mrs. Weisiger of this place, have been here on a visit to relatives. They have been residing in California, but will go to Tampa, Florida for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mason are at home after a visit to their daughter, Mrs. W. Fox Logan at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and an enjoyable stay with Rev. Henry Falconer and family in a Philadelphia suburb.

Dr. Louis McMurry of Louisville, and Mr. W. C. Price drove over from Danville Wednesday and dined with Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Frisbie.

Mrs. J. C. Carpenter of Stanford and Mrs. James Carpenter of Crab Orchard passed through this city Wednesday afternoon to attend the Leavelle-Stallings wedding near Bryantsville; Miss Rella Arnold of this place also went down for the nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Perkins, of Crab Orchard and Mrs. Spiegel, of Springfield, Indiana, accompanied Miss Mary Arnold down to this city in Mrs. Spiegel's handsome "Premier" automobile; Mrs. Spiegel is the daughter of Dr. Doores while her husband is one of the millionaires of the Hoosier State.

Miss Sallie Elkin was hostess on Tuesday of a 12 o'clock dinner party in compliment to Mrs. W. R. Cook's guests, Mrs. Theodore Wintersmith of Louisville, and Miss Lula Robertson of Elizabethtown; the other visitors about the festal board were Mrs. William Sverance and Mrs. Clarence Tate of Stanford, Mrs. W. R. Cook, Miss Letty Mae McDonald and Miss Joan Mount of this city.

Mrs. J. Pierce Robinson's reception designated as "Pink Rose Party" was a most brilliant social affair, her residence in Hill Court being beautifully decorated in pink and white blossoms, ferns, palms and trailing vines; the color scheme was observed in all the embellishments, the handsome dining board being decorated in silver vases containing pink roses, while ropes of pink tulle were attached to the chandelier and extended to the four corners of the festal board; candles hooded in pink shades illuminated the apartment, while the trees, cakes and mints were all creations in the beautiful pink rose design; Mrs. Robinson's attire also indicated the same popular flower, her gown being a messaline robe veiled in chiffon, beautifully embroidered in pink and white roses; standing in the receiving line with the hostess was her sister, Mrs. B. D. Herndon of Danville, while Mrs. John E. Stornes, Mrs. E. F. Walter, Mrs. H. D. Simpson, Mrs. W. Ross Bastin, Misses Letty Mae McDonald, Kathleen Walter and Sallie Elkin comprised the committee of entertainment; some of the out-of-town guests were Mrs. B. D. Herndon, Mrs. May and Miss Mary Dunn, of Danville, Mrs. J. B. Paxton and Mrs. William Baughman of Stanford.

Eighteen applicants took the examination.

A Marriage Proposal.

One of our giddy youngsters of the male persuasion recently decided to make a formal offer of his heart and hand to one of our representative ladies to whom he had been paying some attention for a time. He cautiously prefaced his declarations with a few questions: "Did she love him well enough to live in a cottage with him? Was she a good cook? Did she think it a wife's duty to make home happy? Would she consult his tastes and wishes concerning her associates and pursuits of life? Could she make her own clothes?" The young lady said that before she answered his questions she would tell him of some negative virtues she possessed. She never drank, smoked or chewed; never stayed out all night playing billiards; never lounged on street corners and ogled giddy girls; never "stood in" with the boys for cigars and wine suppers. "Now," said she, rising indignantly, "I am assured you do all these things, and yet you expect all the virtues in me, while you do not possess any yourself. I can never be your wife," and she bowed him out and left him on the door steps to silently meditate over his venture, a wiser man.

Honored Visitors.

Dr. L. S. McMurry of Louisville and Mr. W. C. Price of Danville drove over from the latter city on Wednesday and were pleasant callers at the Record office. They came over to see their friends and renew old acquaintances, and as the genial Doctor put it "just to see the old town". The day was pleasantly spent in the company of "Smalley" Wherritt, "Crafty" Burnside and other old time friends, and a splendid dinner was enjoyed at the hospitable home of Mr. Fred P. Frisbie. Dr. McMurry was raised in Garrard county and is now located in Louisville where he ranks among the best physicians of that city, his reputation not being confined alone to that city or his native state, but his skill and ability is known and respected all over the country. Notwithstanding he has attained prominence, there is still a warm spot in his heart for the old home, and he is never so happy as when he is able to steal away for a day just such as he spent here on Wednesday, amid old scenes and genial companions, and we are always delighted to have him.

Will Garrard County Observe October 24 and 25th As "Good Roads" Day Under Gov. McCreary's Proclamation?

Nearly every county in the state is making some preparation to work their roads on October 24 and 25th, the two days designated in Gov. McCreary's proclamation as "Good Road" days. Will Garrard be behind her sister counties in this respect? Do not our roads stand as much in need of work as those in the majority of the counties. Good roads and good schools go hand in hand, the former are a necessity to the success of the latter. We are making herculean efforts for the betterment of our schools, then why not expend some of that energy upon the betterment of our roads, thereby materially aiding the schools.

In order to have some system about the methods pursued on these days, it will be necessary to form some semblance of an organization beforehand. It would be a good idea for the overseer of each district to confer with the citizens of his district and arrange to have them to report to him on that day and be assigned to different portions of the roads. Either that or some such systematic method should be pursued. Surely Garrard county will not lag in the rear in this matter, but will give as much attention to her roads as do other counties. The time is short and if anything is to be accomplished, it is time we were up and doing. There is not a citizen of the county or town but can well afford to take active part in this movement, and much good is to be accomplished.

Everybody should help. If you cannot, or do not wish to assist in the actual manual labor, then hire a substitute, furnish tools, furnish provisions to assist in feeding the men engaged in the work on those days, do something toward assisting in this most laudable enterprise.

Do not wait for a personal visit from someone, go right to work and organize in your own district and get out on the appointed days and give all the assistance in your power.
